I am a student of business informatics. Software development and computer science play an important role in my daily life, not only at school and at work. My ambitions and goals include making people's lives easier through digital technologies and making a positive impact on the world through my developments. My strengths lie in reliability and efficient, precise work. Thanks to my previous experience and my empathetic way of thinking, I can easily find common ground with my colleagues. My technical skills allow me to work easily with digital systems and software. I find it extremely important that I am constantly working to expand my current knowledge and learn new things.
